

France Halts Use of Moderna for People Under 30 Years

November 12, 2021

In this November 8, 2021 article for Le Parisien, Nicolas Berrod reports that the French High Authority for Health (HAS) has advised against the use of Moderna for individuals under 30 years.

The country has suspended the rollout of the Moderna vaccines last October 15, 2021, following the alerts raised by various Scandinavian countries on the increased risk for myocarditis and pericarditis among young vaccine recipients. The French authority, however, thinks that Moderna is safe to be used as booster shots for vaccine recipients aged 30 and above.

Editor's Note: How many countries would need to declare Moderna unsafe for the use of children before this product is pulled out from the market? Many other countries have stopped the use of Moderna, see [Iceland stops Moderna use for all ages, Sweden, Denmark pause use of Moderna COVID vaccine for younger age groups due to side effects, Finland suspends Moderna for young people due to increased risk of heart inflammation following vaccination].

How many children need to suffer long-term side effects and untimely death before parents start to pay attention? And why is the Philippines (or any country for that matter) still using Moderna for vaccinating young people, particularly children?

Now it must be noted that though countries are focusing on Moderna due to the higher incidence of heart inflammation following the receipt of this vaccine, one must not think that the other vaccines do not have the same problem. Pfizer, for one, uses the same vaccine technology, and hence, is also prone to the same issue as Moderna see [FDA adds heart inflammation warning to Pfizer, Moderna experimental vaccines, Journal censors article showing high incidence of heart inflammation following Pfizer vaccination]. Moreover, heart inflammation is not the only issue of mRNA “vaccines” – many of the projected adverse effects of this product is expected to appear long term when it is already very difficult to assess the true source of future conditions see [Long-term dangers of experimental mRNA shots, Experimental mRNA vaccines could cause long term chronic illnesses, Peer-reviewed research shows mRNA vaccines can cause neurodegenerative diseases, Study confirms possibility that vaccine recipients will face ADE injuries and deaths].

We cannot reiterate this enough: No healthy person needs these vaccines. Our own immune system is more than capable of managing the COVID threat see [Immune system has 27x more protective power than vaccines: Case for COVID vaccine passports demolished, The Science is Clear: Our Immune System Can Confer Natural Immunity Against COVID and its Variants, Your immune system can protect you from COVID and all its future variants, anyone who says otherwise is lying, T-cell immunity found in SARS-CoV-2 infected individuals and close contacts who never experienced detectable infection].

Unlike vaccines which will need to be “topped up” every few months, immunity through natural infection is robust and long-term [New study finds mild COVID creates lasting antibody producing cells, Your immune system: the best defense against COVID-19, Finland study shows vaccines, universal masking, useless against Delta variant, New data shows vaccines useless against COVID in the long-term, Another study shows natural COVID-19 immunity lasts for substantial period of time, New study shows immunity to COVID-19 higher than antibody tests show].

It will protect you against future variants of the virus New study: T-cells induced by COVID infection can respond to new SARS-CoV-2 variants, Our immune system evolves to fight coronavirus variants].

If there is anything this “pandemic” is teaching us, it is this: Our health is our responsibility. The role of the government and health experts is to ensure that health care systems are adequate to address emergency situations. They have no business dictating to us what medical interventions we should be taking.

Your health is your responsibility. Even if you take these “vaccines”, you will still need to take responsibility for your health outcomes, whether you like it or not. Why add the burden of possible adverse effects due to vaccination?
