SHOCKING! Australian ER Doctor Blows The Whistle: “We Are Seeing Myocarditis And Pericarditis In These Children”

The COVID World post date: December 17th, 2021

An Australian emergency department doctor has blown the whistle to speak out against the vaccination of children for COVID-19. The doctor, who obscured his identity for fears of repercussion by the government and medical authorities, says he’s “increasingly perplexed at the continued government backing of a medical intervention marked by serious complications in children.”

The doctor goes on to say that the sharp rise in myocarditis and pericarditis in this group after the rollout of the vaccines is a clear indication that there are severe consequences to vaccinating children against COVID-19.

He further states that the Phase 3 trial for 5-11-year-olds had a mere 600 participants of which there were no “serious adverse” side effects reported. However, the trial study goes on to say that there are always serious unknown complications that can arise “after the fact”.

Given the track record of the pharmaceutical companies involved it must be asked whether these trials can be trusted at all.

“With these vaccines that don’t prevent infection nor transmission of COVID-19, they carry an inherent risk of permanent heart damage while providing absolutely no benefit to the child nor anyone else. Why should we subject our children to these shots?”

Parents, you might think that the vaccine offers your child freedoms even if you know it provides no health benefits to your son or daughter. But what good would that school excursion be if they suffer from a reduction in their heart function for the rest of their lives and will almost certainly shorten their lives?”

The video below was released by the Australian Free Speech platform “The Good Sauce” and contains the full statement by the doctor and also has some incredibly in-depth scientific evidence to back up his claims. Please watch until the end.
